

PRINCIPLES OF THE REGIME IN THE CREAM CITY

WHAT SOCIAL DEMOCRATS PLAN TO ACCOMPLISH IN MILWAUKEE.

BERGER TALKS FOR PARTY

Acts As Mouthpiece for Mayor-Elect Who Takes Office Tomorrow—Rose Will Not Be Present.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 18.—Victor L. Berger, a newly elected alderman, and spokesman of the social democratic party in Milwaukee, today issued a statement giving out the line of principles that will be the guide of the social democratic administration in Milwaukee for the next two years, beginning tomorrow.

"The socialists' party is the American expression of an international movement of the modern wage workers for better food, better homes, sufficient sleep, more leisure, more education, and more culture among its members," says the statement.

To secure an economic as well as a political liberty will be one of the aims of the party.

Municipal ownership of public utilities is among the other things advocated, but until this is reached the best possible service is to be exacted from these utilities.

Competition is objected to on the ground that "more competition means more corruption."

In brief, the social democratic party stands for every radical change that will bring the means of production into the hands of the people.

Mayor Rose stated today that he would not be present when the ceremony of installing Mayor-elect Berger was performed on Tuesday.

"For ten years," said the mayor, "certain socialist leaders in Milwaukee have worked against me on lines of personal vilification."

The details of Col. Swope's death were entered into by Reed, who related how Dr. Hyde obtained access to the hospital in the Swope home, how he "groomed for murder" as Dr. Hyde's motive for the murder of Col. Swope.

HOT CONGRESSIONAL FIGHT IN NEW YORK

Contest Between Aldridge, Republican and Havens, Democrat To Be Decided Tomorrow.

Rochester, N. Y., April 18.—All records for political activity in this section went by the board today in the wind-up of the campaign in the Thirty-second congressional district. Tomorrow the voters will decide whether George W. Aldridge, Republican, or James H. Havens, Democrat, shall be the successor of the late James R. Parsons in the national house of representatives.

This will be the third election of a member of congress since the passage of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, and annual interest attaches to the result of the contest.

In February the Democrats had a larger majority than usual in electing a candidate to succeed the late D. A. De Armand in the Sixth Missouri, and last month, for the first time they carried the Fourteenth Massachusetts district, electing Eugene N. Ross as successor to the late William C. Lovering.

Should he be successful in tomorrow's election in this district the Democrats throughout the country will naturally feel much encouraged in their hopes to gain control of the next Congress.

Mr. Aldridge, the Republican nominee, is a former superintendent of public work and state railroad commissioner, and for twenty years has been the leader of the Republican party in Monroe County. He is a native of Rochester and has been a lifelong resident of this city. In his contest for the Republican nomination his opponents endeavored to use against him the fact that he received $1,000 from the fire insurance companies doing business in this state, following the passage of a bill in which the fire companies were interested.

Mr. Aldridge admitted taking money and declared that his action was proper. He stated that the check was not a personal gift, but was used for the benefit of the Republican party in Monroe County. The charges evidently carried little weight with the convention, for Mr. Aldridge was given the unanimous nomination and his friends believe that his personal popularity will win the election tomorrow.

Mr. Havens, the Democrat nominee, was opposed for the nomination on the ground that he had not been a hard and fast party voter. He voted Bryan in 1896 and openly supported Hughes against Taft in 1908. In the H.C. Cleveland club he stood courageously by Cleveland and came of age to the front in that cause. He attended as a delegate the national convention that placed Judge Alton B. Parker in nomination for the Presidency.

To win in the election tomorrow Mr. Havens must overcome a normal Republican plurality of imposing size. Representatives Perkins carried the district in 1906 by a majority of nearly 4,000 which is assumed to be normal for the Republicans in a congressional contest, though in the presidential campaign of 1908 Mr. Perkins had over 10,000 plurality and 7,209 majority, in seeking to overcome that lead the Democrats are counting not only on the insurance disclosures but also on the influence that are believed to be working elsewhere in the country against the Republicans, such as discontent with the tariff, the outcry against the high cost of living and the widespread feeling shown in recent town elections throughout New York, that a political change is due.

The tract opened to settlement is well developed and the avenues of communication are of a high order, a great part of the land lying along the Great Northern railway line. The soil is similar to that of the major portion of northern Montana. The land is mostly tributary to the Marias river, and at frequent intervals are small streams and creeks.

La Follette for the republican nomination for the United States senate, today issued a platform on which he stands in his campaign. In his platform, Mr. Cook endorses the republicanism of McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft and announces that he believes in majority rule through party and the rule of the state and nation through party. He also endorses the attitude of the republican party on the currency question.

NO ARBITRATION IS TO BE CONSIDERED

Striking Masons Want Eight Hours Work a Day and Will Not Consider a Relief For Nine Hours Labor.

It is now certain that there will be no arbitration of the trouble between the striking masons and the contractors and if building is to be carried on in Janesville this spring the contractors must either give in to the masons and allow them to work only eight hours or employ non-union labor hired from outside the city. The committee appointed by the industrial and Commercial club met with the two factions last Saturday evening and but at eleven no half-way ground could be reached and the meeting adjourned. It is probable the contractors will seek outside masons to do their work. There is no other city in the country of the same size of Janesville that has the eight hour schedule although it is in use in both Madison and Rockford.

GROTESQUE DRAMA HAS A LOVE SCENE

Janesville Young Lady Who Makes Her Bow in the University Play Tonight Has Very Clever Lines.

Much interest is being shown the country over in the grotesque "Bug Drama," that the University students are to produce this evening. The Janesville friends of Miss Lucy Fox who has the stellar role of Teddy the up-to-date young tubercle, whose desperate love making to Bessie Daculus, a stenographer, taken by Miss Charles Kellins of Madison, forms the plot for the tale, will be most interested in some of the really clever lines that appear in her part.

Our honeymoon, dear? Listen to me. We'll skip out of this man's town the first real dark night, and we'll take in every nice looking swamp we can find. By day we'll linger near some cool conical far away from the muddling throng. When we get back, Gee! I can picture the hotel home I'll pick out for you. Up on Ump street I know where there's a house with lovely wallpaper and it ain't a block and a half from the posthouse. And, Gee! The walls will rock with damp sweat as if they were covered with strings of party people, studded with ornamental stars of pale greenish.

This bit of love making, in which Teddy is promising to Bessie wealth and undreamed of in germ land, is followed by this additional bit of tubercular sentiment:

"By day, malaria! breezes and sweet smells! gas and the trickily rhythm of the sewer will put us to sleep. At night we'll do a shadow dance to the music of the happy wings of bats and the stillly noises of silny things that creep and crawl."

Bessie interrupts with such ecstatic remarks as "Infectious!" and "Inoculation!"

The principal parts in this strange play are: Teddy and Bessie, who figure in the love dialogue; Newman Sowa of Quebec; Mike Crober, a rowdy who furnishes the comedy parts in the play; Lancelotus, who acts as chauffeur, and a chorus of 14.

Teddy is an orphan, left alone in the world by the work of the bacteria tologists, and when Newman learns his story he takes him to the stenographer, Bessie Daculus, to dictate an interview for the White Plague Promoter, a magazine of germ land. Teddy tells how his father, Tim Tubercule, was killed by the bacteria tologists, and the story so rouses the indignation of germ land that a campaign is launched against the human race, and against Dr. Frost, germ killer of the state university, and Dr. Havelock, also a germ killer. The mass meeting of citizens of germ land decides to offer a reward for Dr. Frost in particular, of 5,000 molecules of protoplasm. While Teddy is dictating his newspaper interview to the stenographer, he finds she is a beautiful young germ, and the love scenes follow.

"I love my mucous membranes," murmurs Teddy as he looks at Bessie, "but O, you Bessie!"
"Then Teddy tells of his father's murder. Their home was in a fine old Persian rug. And the Tubercule's wife family was drilled to climb up on the broom wielded by the housemaid, and fly into the air, and seek the lungs of human beings. But while the family was living in the rug, came the germ killer.
Teddy in his love scene with Bessie determines to get the reward for disposing of Germ Killer Frost, and the curtain falls as Bessie consents to marry Teddy.

LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE

Vision of What May Come to Pass in the Rearrangement of Existing Conditions.

The man of the future sat patiently darning the family socks. From time to time his mild blue eyes glanced wearily round at the pile of mending at his elbow, and he sighed as he thought of Murphy, the raw Irishman, who needed incessant instruction in the most elementary details of the culinary art. "Two noisy, sturdy girls romped tom-tom-tom about the room, aggravating his headache, while their gentle little brother sat quietly by his father's side, studying pictures in an old book of bygone fashions, which appeared naturally to the domestic instinct of the little man.

"Look, father," he murmured, pointing to an old print of the year 1909. "How what queer clothing that man has on. What are they? Did men really wear these, then?"
"Yes, dear," replied his father, laying down his needle for a moment and bending over the page. "I never saw any, but father once told me that grandfather wore them when he was a boy. They called them trousers!"—Tribune.

QUESTION OF WAGES DISTURBS WORKMEN AT THE NEW YARDS

Reports Current That Round House Force May Demand Increase in Pay.

Rumors of wage advances being secured through the country, notably the switchmen's victory, and the threatened strike at the St. Paul round house, combined with the news that the machinists have almost decided to demand higher wages, has caused much uneasiness among the round house workers at the new yards and rumors are afloat that the men may make a concerted demand for an increase in pay. Although the general impression seems to be that such a demand will be made, the rumors could not be substantiated.

FINISH INSTALLING NEW IRON DRAINAGE PIPES AT CEMENT SHINGLE COMPANY

Foreman Tom Reardon and his force have just completed the installation of sixty feet of four-foot iron drainage pipes at the plant of the Janesville Cement Shingle company which will take care of the waste water from the hill in place of the open wooden culvert that had to be taken up in order to allow the placing of another side track at that point. The new track, it is hoped, besides offering additional switching facilities, will do away with the danger of the heavy sand cars rolling down hill. This has happened several times during the past year and has caused considerable trouble.

Two special trains of the Forepaugh-Sells circus passed through Janesville enroute to Chicago and New York, Saturday night at eight and nine o'clock. Engineer James Wilson with engine 488, and Engineer Prosser took the trains from this city to Chicago where they were turned over to the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R'y.

ENGINE FAILURE DELAYS 610 AND ALSO A PLEASURE TRIP

Engine failure on train 510 yesterday morning at Clinton Junction held that train up for nearly five hours. Engineer Cole and Fireman Davey took train 625 to Chicago with engine 177 on account of the regular crew taking the engine for 510. "Red" Garfield, who was unfortunate enough to take 510 to Chicago had the pleasure of inspecting the water tank and other interesting features of Clinton Jct. for five hours instead of carrying out his original plan of seeing the "big smoke."

There were no switch-engines in service yesterday between the hours of seven a. m. and seven p. m. on account of sick horses.

Engineer Wilke and Fireman Wilkins had the half and half switch engine today.

Engineer Townsend and Fireman Mathison went south on 581 last night with engine 1322.

Switchman John Clough acted as yardmaster last night in place of Ed. Horn.

Machinist Joe Smith has returned to work after having off for over a month as a result of a severe injury to his right foot.

Engineer J. B. Kaufman dispatched last night in place of Engineer Cole.

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Train 143, from Chicago, due to leave here for Madison at 8:50, was delayed until after midnight last night as a result of a derailment at Fox Lake which necessitated sending the train around by way of Corlies.

While standing near the round-house this morning about 7:30, engine 1002 blew out an injector valve and died. No one was injured but the report of the explosion caused considerable excitement.

Engineer Smith is relieving Engineer Callahan on the switch engine today.

Edward Byrne has taken Harry London's place as call boy, the latter going to work in the round house.

Fireman Martin went out on 165 this morning with Engineer Meyer.

Every day there is something doing and by jove you can't keep it all in touch with it daily.

RAILROADS TO PAY MILLIONS INCREASE

Estimated That the Big Railroads Have Recently Increased Pay Roll by Millions.

It is estimated that the general advance now in progress in the wages of railroad employees will amount to $35,000,000. On account of the various forms in which the announcements of increases have been made, it is impossible to arrive at any definite figure, but the above may be taken as a moderate estimate. The new schedules offered by the New York Central, the New York, New Haven and Hartford, the Boston and Albany and the Pennsylvania involve an aggregate increase of nearly $20,000,000 annually, and these are only four of the railroads upon which advances have been announced.

Most of the advances granted since the first of the year have been percentage increases. Some, however, are in the form of so many cents an hour, and still others in the form of so many dollars a month. Two of the roads have simply announced the annual total which the advances granted would cost their resources, without giving details.

The number of men benefited by these advances has ranged from a few hundred, in the case of some companies, to as many as 200,000 in the case of the company with the largest pay-roll. The number of employees who have received wage increases since the first of the year will not fall far short of half a million.

The principal advances so far announced have been made by the following roads:

Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Baltimore & Ohio, Western Maryland, Lehigh Valley, Chicago, Indiana & Louisville, Chicago & North-Western, Pennsylvania, New York, New Haven & Hartford, Philadelphia & Reading, Norfolk & Western, New York Central and allied lines, Boston & Albany, Erie, Atlantic Coast Line, Boston, Haverhill Beach & Lynn.

This general advance in the wages of railroad men is the second in a period of four years. The last previous raise came in 1906-1907. Soon after, in the fall of 1907, came the panic, but the railroads, despite the falling off in business, did not reduce the wages then. Thus the present increase comes on the top of the one four years ago.

To illustrate: an employee earning $150 a month in 1906, on a road where a 10 per cent advance was granted, received $15 more under the higher scale. A 7 per cent advance this year carried his pay to $175.55 a month. This represents a net increase of 17.7 per cent over what he received in 1906.

FLOWER CARPETS IN SPAIN

Religious Festival That Calls Forth Most Remarkable Floral Displays.

Once a year rich Spaniards have a real "flower-strewn way" prepared for them. That is when the Corpus Christi festival is held and beautiful flower carpets are laid in the streets of Villa Orizaba, Tenerife.

All the richest produce of the fertile gardens of the island is brought into use in weaving the most wonderful floor coverings in the world.

Often the patterns are elaborate, especially those designed for old Spanish families, who place them in the street before their houses, and thus gain local estimation according to the value of their floral display.

Not only are the ordinary blooms known to gardeners used to make the design of carpets, but also some rare flowers and grasses growing only in the Canary Islands. The slopes of the peak of Tenerife, bearing layers of lava from the now dormant volcano, are rich in these unusual forms of floral beauty.

Early vegetation suffered a set-back here on Sunday when the vicinity was visited by a snow storm and freezing weather. It is feared that small fruit blossoms were killed and much other damage done.

Thomas Burns, Resident of This Section for 53 Years, Died in Edger-ton on Saturday.

(Special to the Gazette.)
Edgerton, Wis., April 18.—Thomas Burns, who died in this city Saturday afternoon, was one of the oldest and most highly respected pioneers of Rock county. Born in Tipperary county, Ireland, February 1, 1826, he came to America in 1850 and to Edgerton in 1857. Soon after his arrival here he bought a farm in the town of Porter which he conducted for 53 years. Fifty years ago he was married to Miss Anna Guldley, who died seven years ago. Two years after her death Mr. Burns came to this city and for the past five years made his home with his son-in-law, James Joyce. Past ninety years of age, the immediate cause of his death was a general breaking down, due to old age. Five children are left to mourn his demise—two sons and three daughters: James, who conducts the home-stand farm, and Patrick, who resides in the state of Texas; Mrs. William McIntosh and Mrs. James Joyce of this city, and Mrs. Della Burns of Milwaukee. The funeral took place this morning at ten o'clock at St. Joseph's Catholic church, Rev. J. B. Harlin officiating.

The Comet's Tail.

The tail of a comet is composed of gas, existing in a highly rarefied condition. Little particles of electricity called corpuscles, or ions, are being constantly given off at enormous speed by the sun. Each meteorite in the comet's head is surrounded by its own rarefied atmosphere. When one of these little ions strikes one of the molecules of gas in the comet's atmosphere, it carries it off with it to form the tail. The electrical charge makes the gas luminous, and it is by this light, and not by reflected sunlight, that the tail is made visible to us. A comet's tail, therefore, seems to be merely a very extended aurora.—Century.

Must Be Changed.
The old saying, "As savage as a rat," must be changed. A Chicago boy caught a large rat and kept him in a cage for a month and tried many experiments on him. One of the things he did was to let loose a large grasshopper in the same cage, and the rat was so frightened by the insect that he crouched in a corner and whined and shivered with fear. When an sparrow was introduced to the cage, the rat ran round and round until he fell down from exhaustion. When naturalists tell us of the fierceness of the rat, after this, they should leave out the Chicago rodent.

Said the Loaf of Bread to the Sack of Flour:

"Why do you smile?"

Said the sack of Marvel Flour: "I am pure according to the ruling of the U. S. Gov't Pure Food Commissioners, because I am unbleached and milled in the natural way only from the best wheat that grows."

Said the Loaf of Bread: "No wonder you smile. Why, you stand alone as the one flour, made by one of the large mills, that's never been bleached and always been pure."

Insist on MARVEL FLOUR. It will bake better and more bread, cake and pastry at less cost than bleached flour and is pure, healthful and nourishing.

And if you use MARVEL FLOUR, you can get the Marvel Bread Kneader free. The leaflet in every sack tells all about our offer.

IN THE REAR APARTMENT

Only in New York are such acquaintances possible. We are very near neighbors. Our two apartment houses approach each other as closely as the law permits, and our windows are exactly on a line. We had been enjoying the privacy of having a vacant flat before our windows were suddenly broken in upon. The windows so near our own were thrown open one day. Our neighbors had arrived. We doctored at once that they were bride and bridegroom, and that the old colored servant had been in her family for a generation. They were very quiet neighbors, not in the least obtrusive or noisy, and without ever speaking to them, after the New York fashion, we came to regard them with quite a neighborly spirit. The daily routine of the bride's apartment soon became very familiar. We knew the hours of their meals, their plans for calls and callers. If the bridegroom were late in coming home or the couple went away for a day we knew it, and their doings supplied much of our small gossip.

One summer's night when the windows were thrown open on the air shaft we were attracted by a sudden commotion. An elderly gentleman, obviously a doctor, hurried in and we saw a group gathered anxiously about the bed. What is left to the dwellers of the spirit of neighborliness was aroused. The little bride was very ill. The lights burned in her room throughout the night; nor did the doctor leave till daybreak. Out of pure sympathy we slept little ourselves that night. Then followed a long illness, which we watched with anxious attention. When the doctor's visits changed from three visits a day to a single call it was a source of rejoicing for us all. And one bright morning, weeks after, the little bride appeared in her chair before the window. Silently we all rejoiced in her improvement. She looked very pretty and very frail in her gray colored dressing gown, with its profusion of pink ribbons. And each day the great bouquet of flowers before her was renewed.

A week passed and then one day we missed the little bride from the window. She had gone back to bed and again the doctor came regularly at first, daily, but soon, to our consternation, twice each day. Later, however, the calls became fewer and once again the little bride took up her place by the window. But it was a greatly changed little figure, which went straight to our hearts. The gay dressing gown was gone, as were the pink ribbons, and the face looked drawn and pale. Then the effort proved beyond her strength and we saw her no more.

But one night our attention was attracted to the window again and we watched fearfully with anxious hearts. Two doctors and a nurse hastily summoned were beside the bed. The bridegroom sat at the foot, his head buried in his hands, without moving. The doctors and the nurse were obviously working with desperate haste. One, two, three hours passed and then the lights were turned down and the curtain, which had been forgotten, was drawn. We knew all, and throughout that night the loss seemed to be our own. The next morning we saw the undertakers enter the room with their hideous tools.

And the pathetic little family has not yet gone out of our life. The husband and the old colored maid still live in the apartment. At first we marvelled that he should stay on alone among so many memories, but we have decided that these memories are all that he has left. He sits by the windows alone in the early evening with the room darkened. We feel that we know him well and that he is bound to us by innumerable bonds of sympathy. But we have never so much as learned his name.

The Lady of the Telephone.

She is more than five feet tall, she is neat, she is quick, she is never deaf nor dumb, she is invisible when most effective—she is the girl who must be consulted before you can get the telephone you want, says the Baltimore Sun. The government experts find that she can answer 225 calls a minute without shedding a hairpin, but do not mention that she can give you the same wrong number three times in five minutes and cause attacks of apoplexy and indignation at both ends of the wire. She must be either very patient or very indifferent, this operator in the conversation exchange, for she deals with many men of many tempers and many women of many tempers. And if she can manage this successfully and untroubled from a day of conflict with unruffled temper and smiling face, she must be a wonder.

PROBE INTO PASSENGER RATES.

Reduced Charges to Organizations Are to Be Investigated.

Chicago, April 18.—(Railroad officials are greatly interested in an announcement of the Interstate Commerce commission that an investigation of the practice of granting reduced passenger rates limited to members of particular organizations is to be instituted at a hearing in Chicago on April 25.

While the commission has not announced its reasons for taking up the inquiry, as the present ruling of the federal board declares such rates to be legal, it is understood that it is proposed to reopen the entire question of certificate plan fares for the purpose of ascertaining whether the general public is discriminated against.

ENGINE BLOWS UP; KILLS 11.

Tightening of Safety Valve Fatal to Mexican Railroad Men.

Monterrey, Mexico, April 18.—When an antiquated locomotive exploded in the yards of the National Railways of Mexico here 11 employees of the road were blown into eternity. Two others were terribly injured.

The fatal screwing down of the safety valve on the engine after it had been run out of the roundhouse caused the explosion. Engineer Monaghan noted that his steam gauge was not working properly and a mechanic, identity unknown, climbed to the boiler deck to examine the safety valve. An instant later fragments of human bodies and twisted bits of the ponderous engine were hurled high in the air.

BASEBALL MAGNATE EXPIRES.

"Tom" Loftus Passes Away at Dubuque from Cancer of Tongue.

Dubuque, April 18.—Thomas J. Loftus, one of the most famous baseball players and managers of history, died here. He had been suffering from cancer of the tongue for some weeks. Loftus was 54 years of age and is survived by his wife and two sons.

He retired from baseball several years ago to give personal attention to his business here, but his interest in the national game never slackened. Two years ago he was persuaded to accept the presidency of the "Three I" League as a compromise candidate. He carried the organization through a successful season.

To Be Extradited From New York in Connection With the Pittsburgh Craft Scandal.
Frank N. Hoffat, President Pittsburgh Pressed Steel Company.

Frank N. Hoffat, head of the Pressed Steel Car company and president of the German National bank of Allegheny, who has been indicted by the grand jury in connection with the counsellor's bribery scandal here, has given notice through his attorney that he would not come on from his home in New York to face the charges without a fight. District Attorney William A. Blakeley said steps would be taken at once to secure the extradition of the accused man.

This announcement was made late yesterday afternoon, following a conference between the district attorney and Attorney W. B. Rodgers of Hoffat's Pittsburgh counsel. Mr. Rodgers had been in New York to confer with his client and his attorneys there. The conclusion was to resist efforts to have Hoffat come to Pittsburgh. The following letter to Mr. Blakeley explains the attitude of Hoffat and his counsel:

"Pittsburgh, April 11, 1910.
Hon. W. A. Blakeley, District Attorney, Allegheny County.

"My Dear Sir:—Since you directed my attention to the presentation of the grand jury of April 5, which called on Mr. Hoffat to appear before the grand jury and testify, otherwise proceedings would be taken for his extradition, and also recommended that he be detained, he appeared and found himself in the hands of the grand jury. I have carefully considered the question of his appearance and have conferred with the New York counsel, Adrian J. Larkin, and we have arrived at the conclusion that he should not appear before the grand jury and have so advised Mr. Hoffat.

"In view of the fact that you very courteously made the request of me that Mr. Hoffat should appear, I deem it proper to state to you the considerations which influenced our decision, namely:

"It is manifest, on the face of the presentment, that the object of the indictment recommended therein is to endeavor to compel Mr. Hoffat to appear before the grand jury and submit to an examination by them as to the very transactions concerning which they found the indictments. We think that in advance of trial, such a proceeding is improper and that our client should not be exposed to such indignity.

"In addition, there is a serious question with respect to the constitution of the present grand jury to which your attention has already been called by a motion to quash a certain indictment found by it. We think this question is of such character and importance that it should be raised with respect to any proceedings against our client and we propose to do that at a proper time.

Yours very truly,
W. B. RODGERS."

Farmers Buying Autos.

The number of automobiles owned by farmers is growing rapidly. Out of 10,000 autos in Iowa, 5,000 are owned by farmers. Kansas farmers spent $2,200,000 for automobiles during 1909, and $2,750,000 in 1908. In one Nebraska town of 800 population, 10 autos were sold last year to farmers near the town and retired farmers in the town. Careful estimate of the number of automobiles owned by farmers in the entire United States 476,000.

Peculiar Form of Tobacco Using.

Hookah, the bubble-bubble or Turkish water pipe, is always being smoked by Turkish women, partly because they like it, but mainly to supply the men with nicotine water. This bubble-bubble nicotine water habit is, in fact, a lazy form of tobacco chewing. A mouthful of the beverage is held in the mouth as long as possible. They carry about gourds full of it, and claim it preserves their teeth, and it may.—New York Press.

A Charming Girl.

The greatest charm in a young girl is her simplicity, and by simplicity one does not mean stupidity. The charm of real simplicity is an entire absence of boldness, cynicism and assumed worldly wisdom, so often met with in the modern girl. Absolute candor and sincerity are the attributes of true simplicity, and they are characteristics which invariably attract men when choosing their future wives.—Home Notes.

A Bed of Bayonets.

A certain devotee in India shows his religious zeal by lying on a row of seven bayonets. As long as he keeps right he is not hurt, but when he happens to move one of his legs the point of a bayonet immediately pierces his skin. As the man was trained to perform this feat from childhood, no doubt his skin is somewhat thicker than that of an ordinary man.—Strand.

THE WHEELS MOVE.

The inner wheels of the Wisconsin political situation have begun to revolve, slowly, perhaps, but surely. While the opposition to Senator La Follette and to the candidates for the governorship that have thus far come to the front with his badge of sorcery stamped on their collar, are as yet an unorganized force, it is thought that the gathering of the members of the last legislature today in Milwaukee, called by those in charge of State Senator Fairchild's campaign, will develop into a close union that will bring about the desired results.

The one great drawback to Fairchild's candidacy appears to be the fact that Connor is behind him. Connor is not liked, perhaps not appreciated, by the majority of the opponents of La Follette. They do not trust him, in other words, and are most skeptical as to the sincerity in his present attempt to defeat his former friend and ally. Senator Fairchild is a fine fellow. He is a good, sound business man as well as a trained lawyer. His record as state senator has been the best and there is no real reason why he should not have the support of the republicans generally.

However, it is safe to say, he the results what they may at today's conference, should Governor Davidson decide to again enter the race he would have the united support of the majority of the former La Follette henchmen who are now opposed to his methods and management of state affairs. Davidson has made a most able state executive and his work in the building of the new state capital deserves the heartiest approval of the state at large, regardless of party or factional affiliations.

However, the wheels have begun to move and when the machinery becomes adjusted we may expect to see the opposition to the "reform" element solidly aligned with a battle array that will mean something. The anxiety over the long delay in organization appears to be forgotten and if the men in charge of affairs can unite the opposition they will have a strong army to command.

NATIONAL ECONOMY.

While there may have been much criticism of the individual members of President Taft's official family, still the fact remains that since he was inaugurated the entire governmental system at Washington has undergone a decided change. Departments have been reorganized, useless expenditures checked and matters put more upon a business basis. To quote from an exchange: "To go no farther, the saving which it is said Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh has brought about in the routine operations of his department will amount to a million dollars every five years. This economy has been effected, it seems, not only without impairment of efficiency, but with actual benefit to the workings of the treasury. And the story of it, and the manner of it, open up an avenue of conjecture as to what might be possible of achievement along similar lines in the other departments of the government."

Briefly, the story is that Franklin MacVeagh, the Chicago merchant, found upon taking possession of the office which he now holds that its affairs were being administered according to methods which had been followed from the days of Alexander Hamilton, Albert Gallatin and Salmon P. Chase, and that these methods had been anything but improved by time.

The new secretary realized that something should be done toward practical reform and he succeeded in enlisting the aid of Arthur Young, a well-known "business expert" of Chicago. He has effected an annual saving of $200,000 for the country. As to the method pursued it consisted mainly in the systematizing of the business of the treasury, dropping useless expenses and economizing the time and energy of the employees.

The saving in itself is no small matter, but of far more importance is the fact that we have in the achievement of Secretary MacVeagh and Mr. Young an illustration of the necessity as well as the possibilities of similar reorganization in all other departments.

IS LOOKED ON AS A JOKE.

According to eastern dispatches the speech of Senator R. M. La Follette in the senate at Washington in which he opposed the railroad of the country in general, is looked upon in the light of a huge joke by the eastern business community conversant with the subject that La Follette discussed. It is even claimed that Senator La Follette bitterly arraigned the systems which even the most bitter enemies of the railroads in the country admit, are as nearly perfect as possible. Wisconsin people know that the attack was for spectacular purposes and by and by the east will begin to view the set rhetorical addresses of the Wisconsin senator in the same manner—free advertising for champagne programs as it were.

However, the railroad bill which is before the senate for consideration is one of the pet administration measures for the improvement of the rapidly as possible by the members of the upper house having it in charge. Two amendments intended at once to strengthen and to make more acceptable the administration's measure for the improvement of the existing interstate commerce law were adopted by the senate on Wednesday and under circumstances that apparently promised harmonious action in this particular in the ranks of the majority. The friends of the amendment bill, as well as its critics, it was plain, were equally pleased with the steps taken to eliminate some objectionable features. One of these amendments was reached in such a way as to leave the impression that the regulars were disposed to make every reasonable concession in order to meet the views of the insurgents.

For instance, Mr. Ellkins' amendment allowing complainants to appear by counsel before the Interstate commerce commission "in such manner and on such terms as it may deem just," was unsatisfactory to some of the critics of the bill. In an effort to meet their views Senators Aldrich and Ellkins drew up a substitute amendment. Still later, a modification of an amendment proposed by Senator Bacon was accepted on all sides. This amendment provides that complainants before the Interstate commerce commission shall have the right to appear and be made parties to the case and be represented before the courts by counsel under such regulations as are now permitted in similar circumstances under the rules and practice of the equity courts of the United States.

A phase of this matter as important certainly as any change for the better that could be made in the interstate law is the temper here exhibited on the part of the regulars to meet the radicals half way, and the disposition of the latter to accept these overtures as evidences of good faith. It appears, however, that, notwithstanding the concessions made, the bill is in reality going to be little less objectionable to the radicals at the end than it was at the beginning. This will not prevent its passage in the senate, and will probably hinder only slightly its passage through the house; but it will serve to weaken it. If it does not destroy, the hope entertained by conservatives that the differences in the republican party might be adjusted, or placed on the high road to adjustment, before congress adjourns.

President Taft took the "hissing" episode of the delegates to the suffrage meeting in Washington, more as an insult to the officers of that organization than to himself, and wished the incident closed as far as he was concerned. In this the president took the broad view of the matter but still the old truth remains that the woman's tongue is the bitterest of all her weapons.

Colonel Roosevelt was too busy with his social engagements to go to the Alps for a day's hunting with the aged ruler of Austria and Hungary. Perhaps the real reason was that the former president had been so sated with hunting big game that the chance to hit a few tame birds that have been fed on the royal preserves for months in preparation for the killing did not appeal to him.

This snow and frost coming after a month of beautiful weather, is not appreciated by farmers or market gardeners at all. The usual cry of the small fruit crop being ruined is heard abroad and we trust that it is like the hue and cry that went up last fall about the potato crop, absolutely without foundation.

So the fall of that comet has been not only discovered but also has been photographed so that the tales cannot be relied upon that told of the tailless comet that was going to wipe this world of ours out of existence.

What few aeroplanes there are now in existence appear to be trying to keep up the right average for accidents. What will the list be when they start delivering groceries by airships?

President Taft pitched the first ball in the opening game of the Washington team's season the other day and in consequence fans all over the country are now organized for Taft.

PRESS COMMENT.

That Pen Robbery.
It is rumored that those robbers who stole $2,000 worth of pens from the Parker Pen company at Janesville, were seized with an overwhelming desire to write to mother. Milwaukee Sentinel.

Evidently in their desire to obey the fifth commandment, they forgot all about the eighth.

The old saying, "The pen is mightier than the sword," has been given a new version in Janesville, where some industrious burglars changed it to "The pen is mightier than the cash." Fond du Lac Reporter.

Another "old saw" relegated to the junk heap.

Looking Backward.
Some of the economic and political fallacies aired by celebrants of the birthday of Thomas Jefferson are wide enough from his teachings to make the sage turn in his grave. Milwaukee Wisconsin.

Evidently the democratic donkey is attempting to change his hide. Truly, "the world do move."

Crackling of Thorns.
Jingle, jingle, jingle—special privileges. "Big business," "tariff increases prices," "Aldrichism," "Cannibals," "Monroe Journal," "La Folletteism," "Jugoslavism." It's a great time for the heater of cymbals.

Dual Personality.
Speaker Cannon is the only man we know, who can be both down and out and right on the job at the same time. Ashland Press.

Which is, of course, taking the "Aldrich and Aldrich" press as authority for the down and out part of it.
True.
In his message to the mayor of Porto Maurizio, President Taft refers to Roosevelt as our "most distinguished citizen." Had Taft vetted the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill, Mr. Roosevelt need not have been so superlatively distinguished. Galesburg Mail.

Which is a safe statement to make for had the president vetted the bill he would have qualified for the "distinguished citizen" class.

Taft's Method.
Some of Taft's good friends make no bones of saying that he has recently had several mix-ups in which the use of the big stick would have been more effective than the soft soap he used. Illinois News.

No one has indicated that the president is infallible, but isn't it a bit better to make mistakes in trying to avert trouble by pacific measures than to err in the warlike and noisy manner of his illustrious predecessor.

Political Pariah.
It now looks as if the Wisconsin democrats, after aiding and abetting La Follette, will have to fight him to preserve their own party organization. This was the dominant note heard at the statewide Jefferson day banquet at La Crosse, held recently. Burr W. Jones of Madison was booed for governor. Detroit Free Press.

Really looks as if Wisconsin's senior senator is about to be a sort of tramp comet in the political sky. Both the republican and democratic parties disown him.

Sweating.
It may be true, as Commissioner Barker insists, that the "third degree" as practiced by the New York police consists merely in "matching their wits against those of their prisoners," but in many quarters the impression will continue that the "wits" employed grow on a locust tree. South State Journal.

And were polished by the master workmen of the Spanish Inquisition.

About Davidson.
The Janesville Gazette says that Governor Davidson has not been wiped off the political map of Wisconsin by a good deal. It may worry some of the followers of reform who are trying to believe it a fact, but still it is untrue. Governor Davidson has too strong a hold on the people to be cast into the discard to please a few aspiring politicians. Eau Claire Leader.

Vicious Mud Slinging.
Senator La Follette has a voluminous vocabulary of adjectives mostly of a denunciatory sort, and his wild, frenzied harangues sound like billingsgate, or the uncouth cries of a Baltimorean, rather than the speech of a United States senator, representing the great state of Wisconsin. His vicious spillover of yesterday in the upper house, may attract attention, and perhaps gain the speaker applause from men who are always glad when successful men are being attacked. As usual, however, there is no argument in such addresses and the mud returns upon its sender in due time. Wausau Record-Herald.

THE POET PHILOSOPHER

By WALT MASON.
(Copyright, 1909, by George M. Chas. Adams.)

A certain village in a vale possessed a rather ancient jail. Before the door the jailer sat, his head swelled up until his hat was much too small—a chesty man, built on a gorilla, peacock plan. I pushed myself along that way, and bowed a while, and said: "Good day! What makes you look so ill-dressed?—so much above the common crowd? Your one-horse jail is on the bum; the walls are badly out of plumb; a man inside could take a stick and break the door down pretty quick. I've served my time in many jails, and I confess my money fails to resurrect a worse old fort; so why are you swelled up, old sport?" The jailer grunted, raised his head, and threw his bosom out, and said, while gazing at the jail with pride: "Jack Johnson's never been inside!"

YOUR MOTHER.

If you should begin now, and devote every minute of your life until your mother's death you could not begin to pay a tithe of what you owe her.

When it comes to paying mother you are utterly bankrupt.

Again and again she has risked her life for you. She did that at the beginning—went cheerfully down into the valley of the shadow that you might be.

Heroism of motherhood!

In the history of the world there have been a few brave men who would dare to risk their lives for some cause that is dear to them, but every woman risks her life for her babe.

And that risk is but the commencement of her cheerful sacrifice. To her child she will give her health, her strength, her affections, while the breath of life is in her. To the child she will give tenderness and watchfulness and ceaseless devotion always and forever.

And for that devotion, vouchsafed to you until this day, what have you given in recompense to her?

You have given attention to her needs? You have made her comfortable? Of course you have done that. You could not do less. But you ought to do more.

You ought to show your mother in a multitude of ways your appreciation of her and your undying love of her. It is easy to make a mother happy. There is something surely lacking in that child who fails in showing his gratitude. Great men have gladly paid the highest tribute to their mothers.

There was Napoleon.
They say he was cold hearted and cruel. Never toward his mother. Of her he said:

"It is to my mother, to her good principles, that I owe my success and all that I have that is worth while."

And Lincoln:
"All that I am or hope to be I owe to my angel mother."

In almost the latest breath of his dying agony on the hill of Calvary the Christ remembered his broken hearted mother and consoled her to John:

"Son, behold thy mother; mother, behold thy son."

And your mother? Have you been very kind to her and loving and so affectionate and deeply appreciative?

If you are away from her do you write to your mother often?

Is your mother glad because of you?

JOY RIDE IS FATAL TO FOUR.

Men Take Night Jaunt in Locomotive Are All Killed.

Old City, Pa., April 18.—In the wreck of a locomotive found at the foot of a steep embankment on the Baltimore & Ohio narrow gauge line between Shippensburg and Clarist the bodies of four men were found. They were those of Engineer Kelley, Fireman Watson of Foxburg, D. Dennison and M. Neuland of Luchina. The latter were friends of the engineer and fireman. The wreck occurred during the night at a time when no other trains were moving, and it is believed that the party was having a joy ride in the engine cab.

PHILADELPHIA NATIONALS Manager Charles Doolin.

Although champions are dead against the climbing into the first division on the part of the Phillies this season, Charley Doolin is a leader whose club will cause worry to others. The Phillies will be all the more closely watched in view of the excellent conditions that have prevailed there since last fall, beginning with the trouble with Manager Murray, in which an outsider posed as the club owner, the sale of the property to unknown interests, probably Charles P. Taft, and the appointment of Fogel to the presidency and Doolin to the management while Billy Murray was on the outside, have all furnished great winter dope.

Philadelphia has held membership in the National league since 1883. In all that time no pennant has been brought to Quakertown by the National's performers. Way back in 1878 the old Athletics club won the first pennant in National league history, but was expelled that fall. Since then there haven't been any flags to fly. In recent years internal troubles have had much to do with the backsliding of the Phillies.

On this year's team, Bates, Magee and Titus are to form the outfield. Bransfield at first, Knabe at second, Doolin at short and Grant at third are the infield candidates. Doolin is a catcher. He has Jacklitach, Cheek, and McDough as his understudies. In the pitching roles there are Moran, Foxen, Moore McQuillan, and Ewing and Sparks as veterans. Many results are being held and one or two may stick through the season for they are likely looking youngsters.

Names of Dress Materials.

As a general rule it is pretty safe to guess that the name of a dress material comes from some place. Besides such obvious cases as "astrakhan," "cashmere" and "wool" there are "faux" (the humble allude to velvet) from Fustat (Cairo); "muslin," from Mosul in Mesopotamia; "damask," from Damascus; and "cambric," from Cambria, while "millinery" itself is from Milan.—London Chronicle.

YOUNG GIRL RAN AWAY FROM HOME WITH AN ACROBAT

N. P. Tracy of Rockford, Here This Morning Searching For 10-Year Old Daughter—Couple Located in Beloit.

N. P. Tracy of Rockford, arrived here this morning in search of his sixteen-year-old daughter, Mildred, who disappeared from her home last evening and whom he suspected of running away with an acrobat named Frank Scanlan, member of a troupe of performers who played an engagement in one of the Forest City amusement places Saturday night. He had learned that the acrobat would appear in Madison tonight and thought that the runaways had perhaps stopped off in Janesville. While the police were making inquiries here a telephone call was received from Chief Bergen to the effect that Scanlan and the girl had been located and were being held in Beloit pending the father's arrival. It is doubtful whether or not Mr. Tracy could secure a requisition papers and have Scanlan taken back to Illinois for prosecution, even were he inclined with him of her own free will. The father alleges that according to accounts which he has received the acrobat in question has a record for "a sort of thing in other cities. Mr. Tracy went to the lot on the 10-15 car.

WANTS AS EVIDENCE THE SHOCKING GOWN THAT TOOTSIE WORE

Attorney T. S. Nolan Will Defend Four Young Men With Breaking Up W. C. Churchill's Dance.

Accompanied by a score of interested parties from the town of Janesville, Police Tobias and William O'Donnell appeared in municipal court this morning to answer to charges of assault and battery arising out of the free-for-all fight which brought the dancing party at W. C. Churchill's place to a sudden termination last Thursday evening. W. J. Hill of this city makes the complaints against Panning and Cunningham. Mr. Churchill, the one against Tobias; and both gentlemen and Mrs. Cunningham, the one against O'Donnell.
Panning and Cunningham are alleged to have started the trouble by appearing on the scene with two Janesville girls named Johnson and Jones whose attire created a sensation in the "back room" and caused most of the other young ladies present to immediately withdraw.
In the course of a conversation outside the court room this morning Attorney Thomas S. Nolan who represents the defendants pressed Mr. Churchill for details regarding the propriety of garb or demeanor of the flower city belles. With much reluctance Mr. Churchill finally allowed that one of them was called "Tootsie" and was a gown that was exceedingly décolleté and colored hose that were simply scandalous. Mr. Nolan was much impressed by these disclosures and will make an effort to have "Tootsie's" ballgown and stockings introduced as evidence to show that, measured by city standards, at least, there was nothing at all ultra about them.
Plots of "not guilty" were entered by the four young men and they were released in the custody of Constable John Comstock pending their trial next Monday morning. A jury will probably be drawn on Saturday.

REV. W. P. CHRISTY RESIGNS AS PASTOR

Pastor Of English Lutheran Church To Go To La Crosse In June.

Rev. W. P. Christy, pastor of the St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church, at the morning services Sunday, tendered to the congregation his resignation from the duties of pastor to take effect June 15.
Rev. Christy has had charge of the local church since its organization, seven years ago, beginning his work here as a student pastor. Six years ago, he was ordained to the ministry and accepted the charge here in April. Since he has been here the growth of the church and the societies affiliated with it, has been steady, and the present membership now numbers about two hundred and fifty. Not only with his own congregation but in other fields of work Rev. Christy has had a hand. He has always taken a prominent part in all movements for the betterment of moral conditions in the city.

Rev. Christy desires to give up the charge here that he may accept the pastorate of the Holy Trinity church of La Crosse, a church of about the same age as the Janesville church, but with a larger and more promising field of work. That his present congregation desire to have him remain here is signified by the fact that several of them are circulating a petition of protest against his departure and asking him to reconsider his decision.
A congregational meeting will be held next Monday evening, April 25, to consider his resignation.

CITY DADS CONFER WITH THOS. P. BURNS

Regarding the Old Question of the Race Street Approach to Fourth Avenue Bridge.

Mayor Carlo, City Engineer Kerch, and Aldermen Shorlin, Evans and Lowell accompanied T. P. Burns this afternoon to the Janesville Hatten Mills premises where an inspection was made to determine what steps ought to be taken by the city to obtain title to the Race street approach to the Fourth avenue bridge. It appears that the city some years ago entered into a written agreement with Mr. Burns to straighten the bridge and vacate a portion of the roadway before the expiration of a certain period and that this period has now elapsed. The new offer to give the city a quit claim deed for part of the road if the city will consent to his occupying a strip measuring five feet in width from the present southerly line of his property. If these and other satisfactory arrangements can be made it is probable that the Janesville Hatten Mills will be rebuilt.

FRAUD DETAILS ARE BEING TOLD

ILLINOIS CENTRAL EMPLOYE
MAKES CONFESSION IN CON-SPIRACY CASE.

GRAND JURY TO GET STORY

President Harahan Gets Facts Concerning Looting of Road—Intimated High Officials May Be Entangled in Network of Law.

Chicago, April 18.—The confession of an employee of the Illinois Central railroad company regarding the alleged conspiracy by which the road was defrauded out of more than $1,000,000 in connection with car repairs is in the possession of President J. T. Harahan.

Given "Third Degree."

The employee who has given the information regarding the alleged deals whereby several car manufacturing companies are said to have defrauded the company, was put through the "third degree" for more than twenty hours. Steps soon will be taken to have the informant go before the state's attorney and tell his story, and later the case will be taken before the grand jury for indictments. That the information involves officials of the Illinois Central, either now in the employ of the company or recently having left the company, as well as officials of manufacturing companies, is positively stated. Just how high the railroad officials stand is not disclosed, but it is stated that a sensation will be created when the names are disclosed.

Laxity in System.

That a steal of large proportions could have been perpetrated in connection with Illinois Central affairs is due, it is stated, largely to the laxity of the accounting system which was permitted before the new controller arrived. It appears that certain matters were taken for granted which should have received closer inspection. That the car manufacturing companies which are involved in the case do not intend to sit calmly under accusations is shown by the fact that the Blue Island Car & Equipment company, through its attorneys, began suit against the Illinois Central in the circuit court for the recovery of $25,000 which is due that company for the repair of cars during the latter part of 1909.

TENNESSEE AFTER OIL TRUST.

Will Attempt to Oust Standard Company Through Federal Court.

Washington, D. C., April 18.—The government has for the moment given way to let the state of Tennessee wrestle with the Standard Oil in the arena of the Supreme Court of the United States.

While the main attack upon the great oil corporation under the federal anti-trust law has been deferred for weeks, or perhaps even months, by the court's decision that the case must be reargued, a subsidiary battle will be fought before the court this week over the attempt of Tennessee to oust the Standard from doing business there because of alleged violation of the anti-trust statute of the State.

The state courts have held against the corporation, which now appeals in the federal supreme court from the judgment of ouster.

GIRL IS MURDERED NEAR HOME.

Her Body Is Discovered Badly Mutilated in Near-By Shed.

Chicago, April 18.—The body of a little six-year-old girl, identified as a shed three doors from the home of the Boveriska family. The child had been attacked and was strangled, according to the police physician, while trying to call for aid. Her little garments were partially torn from the body.

Inside the body was found a little bag of candy for which the girl left her home unescorted on Thursday night. After her exit from a candy store she was not seen until her body was found covered by the cane and a large strip of matting.

IOWA FRUIT CROP IS RUINED.

Abnormal Cold Weather and Snow Results in Much Damage.

Des Moines, Ia., April 18.—Reports received from over sixty counties that the entire fruit crop is greatly damaged by the abnormal cold weather. At Sioux City, Council Bluffs, Webster City, Davenport and Clinton the thermometer went below freezing and little hope is entertained in those cities that the exposed fruit escaped. It has snowed for 24 hours and the mercury is still hovering about the 30-degree above zero mark.

MASKED BANDITS HOLD UP FAST MAIL TRAIN

Robbers Take Nine Mail Bags and Escape—Passengers Are Not Molested.

Benicia, Cal., April 18.—Two masked men held up the China-Japan mail east-bound train on the Southern Pacific railway at Sprig, two miles east of here and stole nine sacks of registered mail.

The train carried no express matter. Four of the pouches have been recovered, but the robbers rifled the others, and now are hiding in the hills and canyons between Martinez and Oakland. Sheriff's posse from two counties, detectives and post office inspectors on horses and in automobiles are engaged in the man hunt. The robbers were well armed and a battle is anticipated.

The passengers on the train were not disturbed. After getting the mail sacks, the robbers cut the engine loose from the train and sent it wild, throttle open, down the main track to the east.

In the direct path of the engine was a section of passenger train No. 6, west-bound, heavily loaded. But for the presence of mind of a telegraph operator at Suisun a serious collision would have taken place. The engine was thrown into a ditch in the nick of time.

The train robbery is the first in California for several years. It was plotted and executed in daring, spectacular fashion.

SCHOOLS NOT UP TO STANDARD.

Ten Out of Twelve Universities Rejected by Carnegie Fund.

New York, April 18.—The Carnegie Foundation is about to throw a bomb into at least ten big western universities by declaring that they are not yet up to the educational standard that Mr. Carnegie requires before he will let them participate in his many-millioned fund.

This news came from Dr. Henry S. Pritchett, president of the foundation, who is back to attend a trustees' meeting after six weeks of investigating the claims of institutions from Ohio to the coast. He found only two, the Universities of California and Colorado, among the 12 he visited that comply with the Carnegie standard, and since most of the institutions he called upon are state universities, the inference is that he does not believe that the western schools are as far advanced in the high branches as many of those in the east.

POISONER IMPERILS CHILDREN.

Flood Scatters Strychnine-Filled Chocolates Over Streets of Town.

Mount Victory, O., April 18.—As a result of poisoned candy having been scattered in the streets here several times within the past two weeks 50 dogs were killed and at least a dozen children were made ill. A bucket of chocolates was picked up in the streets by authorities and an analysis by a local chemist showed that each contained enough strychnine to kill a child. The candy was placed in the streets at night and the person or persons who committed the act are unknown although the police declare they have several important clues.

FAVORS TUBERCULOSIS SUNDAY.

President Taft Gives the Movement
His Cordial Indorsement.

New York, April 18.—President Taft has indorsed the movement for National Tuberculosis Sunday April 24, in a letter received by Livingston Farrand, executive secretary of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

"I sincerely hope it is intended to have all ministers on that date call the attention of their congregations to the importance of the tuberculosis problem, and to give such simple information regarding it as may be feasible."

DIPLOMAT MARISCAL IS DEAD.

Mexico's Secretary of Foreign Relations Succumbs to Pneumonia.

Mexico City, April 18.—Ignacio Mariscal, secretary of foreign relations and Mexico's great diplomat, is dead. Death was due to pneumonia and was unexpected.

The minister of foreign relations was well known in the United States, having represented Mexico at Washington as minister plenipotentiary. He was born at Oaxaca, July 5, 1829, and had served his country in many positions.

For Uniform Insurance Laws.

Chicago, April 18.—A committee of the Association of Insurance Commissioners assembled in Chicago for a conference that will have a far-reaching effect on the fraternal insurance societies of the country. Representatives of nearly all bodies which are members of the National Fraternal congress and the Associated Fraternities of America are present and an effort will be made to agree on uniform laws for the government of fraternal insurance which will increase the security of the $9,000,000 worth of such insurance now outstanding in the United States.

New World Hamlet Wrecked.

Genoa, N. Y., April 18.—The hamlet of Orleans, eight miles southwest of this city, was nearly wiped out by fire. Twenty-two buildings, including the church and schoolhouse, were destroyed.

Thief's Clever Ruse Failed.

"Come at once to the Great Northern hospital," said a telegram from George Mayton to a woman living in Church street, Lexington, London. She went, and in her absence he broke into her house. He was sentenced to nine months' hard labor at Clerkenwell.

ONE TERM APLENTY SAYS PRESIDENT

TAFT MAKES THE DECLARATION
TWICE AT WASHINGTON
BANQUETS.

SPEAKS IN JOKING FASHION

Tells Fraternity Brothers of Hardships of Office, Declares He Wants No More—Auditors Divided as to His Seriousness.

Washington, April 18.—To two Washington audiences President Taft declared that one term in the White House was quite a plenty for him.

The first time the president made this declaration was in talking to the District of Columbia branch of the American Bankers' association. He made it again in the course of a talk to a gathering of Washington's quoin of the Pal Upsilon fraternity. Both times the president spoke in joking fashion, but under the smile there appeared to be much seriousness.

Some of his auditors believed the president was in earnest, but others took his statement in a Pickwickian sense.

Breaks News to Bankers.

To the bankers the president was talking about the beauties of this city. "Washington is dear to me," he said. "I'm going to spend three years more here."

Then the crowd broke in. "Seven years, you mean," it chorused.

"Well, that sounds good," continued the president, smiling, "but when I remember that the vote in the District of Columbia doesn't cut any figure in national affairs my head is not swelled with your approval."

To the fraters at the Pal Upsilon banquet the president was more frank. Herbert L. Bridgman, president of the National Pal Upsilon association, had said that he could tell Mr. Taft how he might get twenty-five terms as president.

"One Term Quite Enough."

"Brother Bridgman," said the president in the course of his remarks, "has said that he can tell me how to get twenty-five terms. I am much obliged to him, but one is quite enough for me. All the philosophy Pal U teaches will enable me to get through one, but the contemplation of one term more, let alone twenty-five, is more than I can stand."

The president referred facetiously to the doctrine of anti-race suicide of Colonel Roosevelt, and said he was in full accord with the policies of his predecessor.

NO STRIKE ON LACKAWANNA.

Road Agrees to Abide by Award of the New York Central.

Seranton, Pa., April 18.—At a conference in the offices of the Lackawanna railroad a strike of the conductors, trainmen, engineers and firemen of the whole system was averted only by the decision of General Superintendent Clarke to concede from a position that he declared he would maintain to a bitter finish.

The members of the four brotherhoods on the entire system had been ordered by their grand lodge officers to cease work at 11:45 last night.

Superintendent Clarke agreed to abide by the award of the New York Central arbitrators, who began their sessions in New York today. The demands on the New York Central are identical with those on the Lackawanna.

Pittsburg Banker Found Dead.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 18.—John Cameron Stevenson, aged 60 years, president of the Manufacturers' bank, a South side institution, was found dead in bed by a member of his family. It is thought heart trouble caused the banker's death.

Old Wounds.

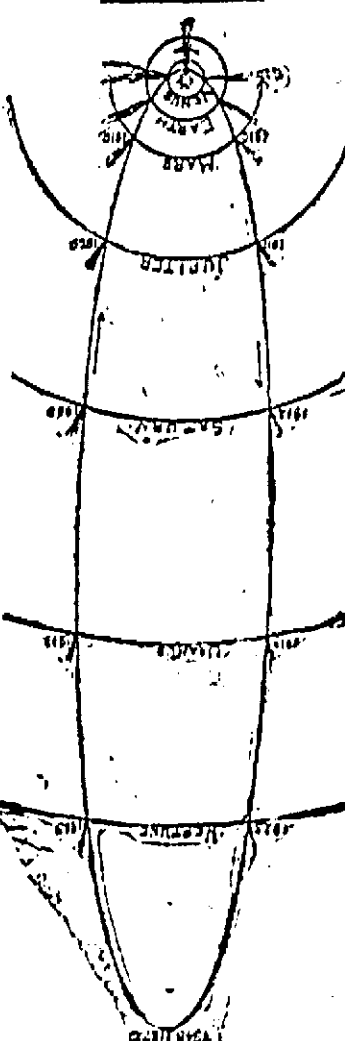

Agitation and anxiety of mind scatter wrinkles and gray hairs with no sparing hand; but deeper traces follow on the silent uprooting of old habits, and severing of dear familiar ties. The affections may not be so easily wounded as the passions, but their hurts are deeper and more lasting.—Charles Dickens.

Army Circles plan entertainment for distinguished British soldier, Lord Herbert Kitchener.

New York.—Plans are being brought to a head for the entertainment of Lord Herbert Kitchener, the distinguished British soldier, who will arrive here the latter part of this week. Lord Kitchener is just completing the last stage of his trip of inspection of British colonial fortifications and armies. He fully expected to visit Canada, but important business at home has required his immediate attention, and he will sail from New York Saturday, April 16.

Lord Kitchener is the most prominent man in English army circles today. After a life devoted to British military service in many of England's outlying districts he has a familiar grasp on the situation today. His recent trip to England and the South Pacific colonies completed his knowledge gained by personal investigation and experience.

ORBIT OF HALLEY'S COMET A SKY TREDDMILL.

Within a few days the long looked for Halley's comet will be visible to the naked eye. This comet, which appears "seventy-five years or so," arrives back in our vicinity from that most distant point known as Aphelion, writes Frederick Campbell, president of the department of astronomy, Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences.

That is 3,250,000,000 miles from the sun and 500,000,000 beyond the orbit of Neptune. The plane of the comet's orbit being inclined 18 degrees to the general plane of the earth and other planets it is, when it crosses Neptune's path, 750,000,000 miles deep in space, but when it reaches the earth's path it loops over and under it. Only Mercury's path escapes, being so near the sun that it does not even show in the chart.

"Were the comet simply dropped from its most distant point it would fall straight into the bosom of the sun and go out in a puff of gas. But it yet retains a bit of that original momentum which was given it when the sun's attraction, keeps it working the treadmill of an ellipse."

"The sun is at one focus of this ellipse, for there are two, the opposite focus being unoccupied. It is six billion and a half miles around it. If you could ride the heavens astride the comet, at its most distant point the sun's light would reach you in full five hours, whereas it reaches the earth 8 1/2 minutes, and a railroad train traveling 60 miles an hour would arrive there 6,000 years after you."

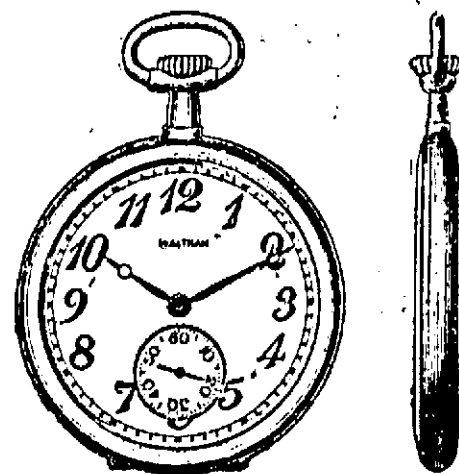

"It is well for us that the earth is so near the sun, because that brings the comets near us which are drawn in by the sun. Close to us they appear at their largest. Close to the sun they get a tremendous waking up from that great power-house."

One of the world's richest men.

"The skeels!" he exclaimed. "I thought she told me everything."

"I think Miss Elizabeth tells me no one quite everything," I ventured. "I can't see she has kept me almost as much in the dark as yourself, sir. But I only wanted to ask if, after I have seen her today, and if I should gain her consent to an early day, you would not waive any objections on your own part and allow the matter to go forward as soon as possible?"

In answer to this he arose from his chair and stood looking out of the window, his back turned to me. I could not call his reception of my suggestion enthusiastic; but at last he turned.

"I presume that our two families might send you young people a sack of meal or a side of bacon now and then, as far as that is concerned," he said.

I could not call this speech joyous. "There are said to be risks in any union, sir," I ventured to say. "I admit I do not follow you in contemplating any risk whatever. If either you or your daughter doubts my loyalty or affection, then I should say certainly it were wise to end all this; but—" and I fancied I straightened perceptibly—"I think that might perhaps be left to Miss Elizabeth herself."

After all, Mr. Dan Churchill was obliged to yield, as fathers have been obliged from the beginning of the world. At last he told me I might take my fate in my own hands and go my way.

Trust the instinct of lovers to bring them together! I was quite confident that at that hour I should find Elizabeth and her aunt in the big east room at the president's reception, the former looking on with her uncompromising eyes at the little pageant which on reception days regularly went forward there.

My conclusion was correct. I found a boy to hold my horse in front of Gaultier's cafe. Then I hastened off across the intervening blocks and through the grounds of the White House, in which presently, having edged through the throng in the ante-chambers, I found myself in that large procession of individuals who passed by in order, each to receive the limp handshake, the mechanical bow and the perfunctory smile of President Tyler—rather a tall, slender-limbed, active man and of very decent presence, although his thin, shrunken cheeks and his cold blue-gray eyes left little quality of magnetism in his personality.

It was not new to me, of course, this pageant, although it never lacked of interest. "There were in the throng representatives of all America as it was then, a strange, crude blending of refinement and vulgarity, of ease and poverty, of luxury and thrift."

A certain air of gloom at this time hung over official Washington, for the minds of all were still oppressed by the memory of that fatal accident—the explosion of the great cannon "Foucault" on board the war vessel Princeton—which had killed Mr. Upshur, our secretary of state, with

AFTER SUFFERING FOR YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. "I was sick for years while passing through the change of life and was hardly able to be around. After taking six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I gained 20 pounds, am now able to do my own work and feel well."—Mrs. E. L. KINKEAD, Brookville, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

others, and had, at one blow, found so near to depriving this government of its head and his official family; the number of prominent lives ended or endangered being appalling to contemplate. It was this accident which had called Mr. Calhoun forward at a national juncture of the most extreme delicacy and the utmost importance. In spite of the general mourning, however, the informal receptions at the White House were not wholly discontinued, and the administration, unsettled as it was, and fronted by the gravest of diplomatic problems, made such show of dignity and even cheerfulness as it might.

I considered it my duty to pass in the long procession and to shake the hand of Mr. Tyler. That done, I gazed about the great room, carefully scanning the different little groups which were accustomed to form after the ceremonial part of the visit was over. I saw many whom I knew. I forgot them; for in a far corner, where a flood of light came through the trailing vines that shielded the outer window, my anxious eyes discovered the object of my quest—Elizabeth.

It seemed to me I had never known her so fair as she was that morning in the great east room of the White House. Elizabeth was rather taller than the average woman, and of that splendid, southern figure, slender but strong, which makes perhaps the best representative of our American beauty.

She was very bravely arrayed to-day in her best pink-flowered lawn, made wide and full, as was the custom of the time, but not as clumsily gathered at the waist as some, and so serving not wholly to conceal her natural comeliness of figure. Her hair, which she had removed, I could see the sunlight on the rippling of her brown hair, and the shadows which lay above her eyes as she turned to face me, and the slow pink which crept into her cheeks.

Dignified always, and reserved, was Elizabeth Churchill. But now I hope it was not wholly conceit which led me to feel that perhaps the warmth of the glow of the air, caught while riding under the open sky, the sight of the many budding roses of our city, the scent of the blossoms which even then came through the lattice—these meeting even with myself, so lately returned—something at least of this had caused an awakening in her girl's heart. Something, I say, I do not know what, gave her greeting to me more warmth than was usual with her. My own heart, eager enough to break bounds, answered in kind. We stood—blushing like children as our hands touched—forgotten in that assemblage of Washington's pomp and circumstance.

"How do you do?" was all I could find to say. And "How do you do?" was all I could catch for answer, at least I saw, in a fleeting way, a glimpse of a dimple hid in Elizabeth's cheek. She never showed it save when pleased. I have never seen a dimple like that of Elizabeth's.

Absorbed, we almost forgot Aunt Betty Jennings—stout, radiant, amiable, arch-browed and curious, Elizabeth's chaperon. On the whole, I was glad Aunt Betty Jennings was there.

"Aunt Betty," said I, as I took her hand; "Aunt Betty, have we told you, Elizabeth and I?"

I saw Elizabeth straighten in perplexity, doubt or horror, but I went on. "Yes, Elizabeth and I—"

"You dear children!" gurgled Aunt Betty.

"Congratulations both!" I demanded. "I put Elizabeth's hand, covered with my own, into the short and chubby fingers of that estimable lady. Whenever Elizabeth attempted to open her lips I opened mine before, and I so overwhelmed dear Aunt Betty Jennings with protestations of my regard for her, my interest in her family, her other nieces, her children, her kith and kin, her home—I so quoted all her questions by assertions and declarations and exclamations, and declarations that Mr. Daniel Churchill had given his consent, that I swear for the moment even Elizabeth believed that what I had said was indeed true. At least, I can testify she made no formal denial, although the dimple was now frightened out of sight."

Admirable Aunt Betty Jennings! She forestalled every assertion I made, herself bubbling and blushing in sheer delight. Nor did she lack in charity. Tapping me with her fan lightly, she exclaimed: "You rogue! I know that you two want to be alone; that is what you want. Now I am going away—just down the room. You will ride home with us after a time, I am sure."

Adorable Aunt Betty Jennings! Elizabeth and I looked at her comfortable back for some moments before I turned, laughing, to look Elizabeth in the eyes.

"You had no right—" began she, her face growing pink.

"Every right!" said I, and managed to find a place for our two hands under cover of the wide flounces of her figured lawn as we stood, both blushing. "I have every right. I have truly just seen your father. I have just come from him."

She looked at me intently, glowing, happily.

"I could not wait any longer," I went on. "Within a week I am going to have an office of my own. Let us wait no longer. I have waited long enough. Now—"

I babbled on, and she listened, it was strange place enough for a betrothal, but there at least I said the words which bound me; and, in the look Elizabeth gave me I saw her answer. Her eyes were wide and straight and solemn. She did not smile.

As we stood, with small opportunity and perhaps less inclination for much conversation, my eyes chanced to turn toward the main entrance door of the east room. I saw, pushing through, a certain page, a young boy of good family, who was employed by Mr. Calhoun as messenger. He knew me perfectly well, as he did almost every one else in Washington, and with precocious intelligence his gaze picked me out in all that throng.

"Is it for me?" I asked, as he extended his message.

"Yes," he nodded. "Mr. Calhoun told me to find you and to give you this at once."

I turned to Elizabeth. "If you will pardon me?" I said. She made way for me to pass to a curtained window, and there, turning my back and using such secrecy as I could, I broke the seal.

The message was brief. To be equally brief, I may say simply that it asked me to be ready to start for Canada that night on business connected with the department of state. Of reason or explanation it gave none.

I turned to Elizabeth and held out the message from my chest. She looked at it. Her eyes widened. "Nicholas!" she exclaimed.

"Elizabeth," said I, turning to her swiftly, "I will agree to nothing which will send me away from you again. Listen, then—I raised a hand as she would have spoken. 'Go home with your Aunt Betty as soon as you can. Tell your father that to-night at six I shall be there. Be ready!'"

"What do you mean?" she panted. I saw her throat flutter.

"I mean that we must be married to-night before I go. Before eight o'clock I must be on the train."

"When will you be back?" she whispered.

"How can I tell? When I go, my wife shall wait there at Elmhurst, in stead of my sweetheart."

She turned away from me, contemptuous. She, too, was young. Ardent, appealed to her. Life stood before her, beckoning, as to me. What could the girl do or say?

I placed her hand on my arm. We started toward the door, intending to pick up Aunt Jennings on our way. As we advanced, a group before us broke apart. I stood aside to make way for a gentleman whom I did not recognize. On his arm there leaned a woman, a beautiful woman, clad in a costume of founced and rippling velvet of royal blue which made her the most striking figure in the great room. There was a personality not easily to be overlooked in any company, but face one not readily to be equalled. It was the Baroness Helena von Ritz!

We met face to face. I presume I would have been too much to ask even of her to suppress the sudden flash of recognition which she showed. At first she did not see that I was acrossed. She bent to me, as though to adjust her gown, and, without a change in the expression of her face, spoke to me in an undertone no one else could hear.

"Wait!" she murmured. "There is to be a meeting—" She had time for no more as she swept by.

Alas, that mere moments should spell ruin as well as happiness! This now woman whom I had wooed and found, this now Elizabeth whose hand lay on my arm, saw what no one else would have seen—that little flash of recognition on the face of Helena von Ritz! She heard a whisper pass. Moreover, with a woman's uncanny facility in detail, she took in every item of the other's costume. For myself, I could see nothing of that costume now save one object—a barbaric brooch of double shells and headed fastenings, which clasped the light lace at her throat.

The baroness had perhaps slept as little as I the night before. If I showed the ravages of loss of sleep no more than she, I was fortunate. She was radiant, as she passed forward with her escort for places in the line which had not yet dwindled away.

"You seem to know that lady," said Elizabeth to me, gaily.

Elizabeth to me, gaily. "Did I so seem?" I answered. "It is professional of all to smile in the east room at a reception," said I.

"Then you do not know the lady?" "Indeed, no. Why should I, my dear girl?" Ah, how hot my face was!

"I do not know," said Elizabeth. "Only, in a way she resembles a certain lady of whom we have heard rather more than enough here in Washington."

"Put aside silly gossip, Elizabeth," I said. "And, please, do not quarrel with me, now that I am so happy. To-night—"

"Nicholas," she said, leaning just a little forward and looking her hands more deeply in my arm, "don't you know the little brooch you were going to bring me—an Indian thing—you said it should be my wedding present? Don't you remember that? Now, I was thinking—"

I stood blushing red as though detected in the utmost villainy. And the girl at my side saw that written on my face which now, within the very moment, it had become her right to question! I turned to her indignantly.

Know by Experience. It was during an oral examination at a medical college. As the examination proceeded the student who was being questioned got warmer and warmer, and the sweat broke out over his forehead. "What would you do to throw a patient into a profound perspiration," at length asked the examiner. "If you had tried the ordinary drugs without effect?" "Send him here to be examined," replied the student without a moment's hesitation. "If that didn't do it there's nothing that would."

The Ticklemouse

—and his Sleepyland Adventures
By Roy Rutherford Bailey with Davy and Dorfy

The Water Baby

PART II.—The Sea Monster.

WATCH her—she's moving!" exclaimed the Ticklemouse under his breath. "She's stirring in her sleep."

Clutching his trembling paws in their wondering surprise, Davy and Dorfy gazed over the side of the boat at the mermaid and her child. The young mother stood adoringly bending over her rosy little merbaby, watching her breath come and go. Was ever such a baby in the world before? Or such a creature? Or such a slumber-song as the waves were crooning, outside the silent portals of this nursery of the sea?

With a slow, glad smile, the Water Baby awoke, and her young mother's answering smile made the dim cave glow. If its crystal roof had been suddenly lifted to the moonlight, she caught her baby to her breast, and its wandering fingers toyed happily with the lotus-blossoms in the mermaid's hair. And there they saw that the baby, like her mother, had little, rosy fins from her heels to her plump little knees.

"Al, al! Does my Pearlkins want her playthings?" The mother reached down into a crevice in the rock and drew out a handful of wonderful pearls, some loose, some strung on a bit of fishing twine. The baby tossed them joyously about, careless of their priceless value—chewing away at the string of pearls to bring her own pearly teeth through the gum, as babies have done since the world began.

The mermother covered her baby with kisses, and looked around her for other eyes. Splash! Like an arrow she disappeared in the clear blue water, coming up with both hands full of brilliantly colored fishes, tiny things that flashed like firebrands in the twilight. Such playthings! The listening, watching three were spellbound with wonder as the Water Baby crowded with delight, merrily chasing the scarlet fishes around in the pools that filled the hollows in the rock's smooth top. The mermother busied herself with a cheery little lullaby on the far edge of the big brown rock. Davy and Dorfy sniffed the air wistfully—the fish she was roasting smelled so good, it was all the twins could do to keep still.

delected to the Diocesan Convention to meet in Milwaukee on the third Tuesday in June next: Dr. C. L. Martin, Joseph B. Whitling, M. D., Dwight Cook, Henry A. Doty.

TRINITY CHURCH.—At the annual meeting in Trinity church, held Easter Monday, April 18, the following persons were elected: Wardens and Vestrymen for the ensuing year: Senior Warden—J. Bodwell Doe, Junior Warden—S. A. Hudson.

Vestrymen—Joseph A. Wood, Chas. A. Norton, Hiram Bump, H. C. Fox, Hiram Merrill.

Johnings.—The public schools of this city commence their spring session today.

Mr. E. P. Smith, for several years past with M. C. Smith & Co., started on Saturday last for Colorado, with the intention of engaging in stock raising.

Within a week past the water in Rock river below the dam has fallen about two feet.

A reward of $100 is offered for the discovery of the scamp who broke the plate glass window in the Myers House block on Friday night.

A Pentan hall takes place this evening at Apollo hall.

The consenship to Ancon, Italy, to which Hamilton Richardson, Esq., of this city has been appointed, is a position which he did not desire, and we understand will not accept.

The work of clearing the rubbish from the burnt district of West Milwaukee and Franklin streets is in active progress. The building to be erected on the site will be of brick, three stories high and of handsome architecture. Dr. Mitchell hopes to have the stores ready for occupancy by July 1st.

HE RAN AWAY.

"O labeling, my waterkins, hush, my flower, Hush, my Pearl of the caves! My happy heart dances for joy every hour, Like the moonbeams that dance on the waves.

Thy father, the merman, is swimming, swimming, Back to his baby and me; His strong, eager heart, dear, is brimming, brimming Full of the joy of the sea!"

The Mouse stirred uneasily and looked at his tiny watch. "Time we were moving," he whispered to the twins. "I wouldn't care to have the merman find us here!" and their boat slipped softly, gently through the deepening shadows to the open sea.

They rowed back to the "Merry Mouse" and boarded her. They said very little as they weighed anchor and sailed away westward to homelands, Cramped and stiff from long crocheting in the small-boat, they were still overcome by the wonders they had seen and heard in that enchanted cave. And it was not until the Ticklemouse was tucked into their beds that the twins remembered.

"Oh, pshaw!" exclaimed Davy. "Oh, dear!" whispered Dorfy, almost in the same breath.

"Now what?" asked the Ticklemouse, who was waiting for the ship to shrink enough to go back into the box of toys again.

"Oh," said Dorfy, disappointed enough for two, "that's more candy, that cave, than we've ever seen before in all our lives, and we forgot to eat even a teeny, weeny little nibble of it!"

The Ticklemouse chuckled. "Well, never mind," he said, fondly, "it will be there for next time! You have candy enough, I guess, daytimes—it'll leave all the more for the little Water Baby!"

Great Forest Reserves of Nevada.
The national forest reserve in Nevada now reaches the enormous total of 8,529,176 acres. The total acreage of the state, including water surface, is something over 11,000,000. Therefore the forest reserve comprises more than one acre in every ten. The last reserve formed was the Las Vegas National Forest, locally known as Sheep Mountains. It covers an area of 195,840 acres and is the eighth to be formed in the state.

In addition to this the secretary of the interior has announced the withdrawal of 64,451 acres in White Pine and Nye counties, to be added to the national forest reserve, making a total of over 9,000,000 acres that will have been withdrawn in a short time.

DEAF HEAR AT TELEPHONE.

Among the many curiosities of the telephone and one which certainly never was thought of when the instrument was invented, is the fact that persons who are extremely deaf often can hear perfectly over the telephone. Those who are so deaf that they can distinguish nothing which is said to them except by the motion of the lips or by the use of an ear trumpet, or other similar device can carry on long distance telephone conversations with perfect ease and never miss a word.

When the pleasant summer weather comes all the land to doff Aspect cold and bleak and cheerless. Then we say that summer's priceless! But we wistfully wonder whether We may take our barrels off.

STUPID

"Did you think there was anything improper in that play last night?" he asked.

"No," she replied, "it was stupidly proper. There wasn't a word uttered on the stage that couldn't be said right here in my own home."

The Injured One.

A gentleman owning a sugar estate in Demerara went out to visit it for the first time. The day after his arrival he stood watching the punts bringing the cane home. A young negro boy who was driving the mules, wishing to increase the speed of them, struck one of them with his whip. The mule promptly responded by lashing out with his heels and dealt the boy a kick on the head which stretched him on the ground, where he lay rubbing his woolly pate on the spot where the kick had been received.

"Is he hurt? Is he hurt?" cried the planter in alarm. A full-grown negro, hearing the expressions of concern, sprang forward hastily and, raising the mule's heels, shouted out:

"No, boss! That mule him walk tenah to a day or two, but him no hurt!"
